

2004 Cabernet Sauvignon Atlas Peak, Napa Valley

Cobblestone Cabernet Sauvignon is made entirely from the fruit of our family estate vineyard high atop Napa Valley's Atlas Peak.

While the 2004 vintage delivered smaller yields than expected for many Napa Valley growers, we found that the fruit showed exceptional character and concentration.

The 2004 is a blend of our two Cabernet Sauvignon clones along with 6% Cabernet Franc, which further enhances the wine's complexity.

The well-balanced wine aged for 18 months in French oak followed by extended bottle aging, providing approachability on release with an additional 5-7 years of cellaring potential.

Tasting notes:

The nose offers ripe berries, winter spice and aromatics including cedar and frankincense. On the lush, fruit-filled palate you enjoy traces of blueberry, huckleberry and boysenberry, laced with spice and black pepper, while the exceptionally long finish is framed by intense, toasty oak.
